WE NOMINATE

Morris Maple, one of the outstanding examples in the Princeton Community of the volunteer public servant, who down through the decades has quietly gone about the time-consuming—and at times thankless—task of making Princeton a better place in which to live. Now 65 years old, and endowed with the fortunate capacity for "always thinking of the future and forgetting the past," Maple this summer is entering upon a new phase of his career: he has withdrawn from active participation in municipal affairs and after 41 years as a Borough resident has re-established his home in his native Township.

In the new role of senior statesman, available for consultation at his Nassau Street store or "any place at your convenience," Maple can look back upon a remarkable stretch of duty in the so-called political field, a sphere he entered some 35 years ago as an interested citizen rather than as an office-seeker. Borough "G.O.P. Captain" long before the present Republican Club was organized and Council President in his ninth and final year (1945) on the Borough's governing body, Maple this spring resigned from his last Borough post, membership on the "Zoning Board," an appointment originally tendered by a Democratic Mayor.

President of the Board of Trustees of the Second Presbyterian Church and Vice-President of "Hook and Ladder," Maple "knows" the whole Princeton Area in the same way a city policeman "knows" his six-block beat. He is a product of the old Cedar Grove School, where "in my day grades went by readers" and not by numerical designations such as One, Two, Three, and started out on his own in 1907 as a painting contractor. He had, incidentally, become interested in paints after completing a correspondence course in lettering that he had taken for the express purpose of turning out distinctive signs advertising the patent medicines developed by his father.

Maple, the founder of one of the few New Jersey enterprises combining retail and wholesale paint sales with contracting, has made two hobby-interests vital parts of his every-day life. The enjoyment he derives "from being with people, from studying them" has made it easier to attend as many as "three or four meetings an evening." Maple also talks gardening with the enthusiastic understanding of "one who grew up in the country" and out at Blackwell's Mills, four miles beyond Griggstown, still maintains the "victory garden" he started in World War I.

For placing his responsibilities as a Princetonian far above the demands of personal affairs; for insisting that "I deserve no credit for the little I have done"; for believing so thoroughly in the things for which he has worked so hard and so long; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for Random Notes. If Princeton's two governing bodies want to stir up a red hot controversy, they have only to adopt the policy introduced this week in Ridgewood. The owner of every television set (with an outside aerial) has had $200 added to his personal property assessment, with a resultant annual cost of $11.60 a year for his parlor entertainment. Owners of sets with indoor aerials aren't included in the deal; the survey was made by counting visible rooftop evidence.

A state-wide referendum has been added to New Jersey ballots for November 6. Voters will be asked to approve a $15,000,000 bond issue for additions and improvements to state teacher colleges.

From Washington, as many lawmakers cater to special interests and move dangerously closer toward a disastrous economic spiral by relaxing price and wage controls, Charles R. Howell, Representative from the Mercer-Burlington District, comments: "Congress' reaction to the special interests has been a disgraceful exhibition. The men in the Kremlin must be very happy."

If, on the afternoon of October 6, you'd like to sit in a comfortable armchair in your living room and watch midshipmen in dark blue uniforms and white caps parade; see one football team in orange and black collide on green grass with another dressed in vivid blue and gold, against the setting of a gaily dressed crowd assembled under an azure sky, you can do so. The Princeton-Navy game is one of nine 1951 contests forming the first TV schedule of its kind; a color television set will bring it to you.

There are 188 towns in New Jersey in which weekly newspapers are published. The only town that has three such publications is Princeton.

Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro points out as part of the town's highway safety program that striking an object in a car while going 60 miles an hour is like driving off the top of a nine-story building.

If you are interested in buying a bicycle, a car or a horse; need an apartment, house or office space; want a job ranging from a church janitor to a telephone operator or an electronics engineer; would like to save 15% on your shirts; find a quick way to kill mosquitoes or try some pre-frozen mint leaf iced tea, read the classifieds. This week they're on pages seven and eight.

Ten Thousand Homes. The impact on Princeton of the construction in nearby Morrisville, Pa., of a huge U. S. Steel plant is a development that is being paid increasing attention. Despite the fact that the city of Trenton, the Delaware River and a state boundary line separate the two communities, expansion of the Morrisville site into a huge industrial center cannot help but have its effect here.

First to be felt are a tightening of the long-acute housing shortage (this time in the upper brackets as Princeton homes are sought for U. S. Steel executives) and the siphoning off of clerical, stenographic and, in the construction field, skilled and unskilled labor. Wages offered are reportedly not out of line with those being paid by many non-industrial organizations in the Princeton area but the inevitable call of "greener pastures" is having its effect on personnel at these levels.

The upward trend in population that has been so marked here in the post-war era will get an added boost from the Morrisville development, with the effect to be felt primarily in Princeton township. One survey has this municipality increasing by 170% (to approximately 14,000 people) by 1971.

It is, however, the vast physical changes in the 30-mile area from New Brunswick where several large industries including Studebaker and Westinghouse have recently located—to Trenton and Morrisville that conjure up a picture difficult to envision in detail. That picture was given dimensions of considerable magnitude this week as Congress mulled over a defense housing bill that would permit the construction in the Morrisville area of another Levittown, an actual "city" by U. S. Bureau of Census standards that would number some 10,000 homes.

The prospective builder, William J. Levitt, is reported to foresee for the Trenton-Morrisville area an "industrial development that will eventually rival Pittsburgh." In anticipation of a green light on housing construction from Washington, Levitt & Sons have announced purchase of 2,000 acres of farm land just across the Delaware River.

Belief exists that once the U. S. Steel plant reaches the production stage, several dozen "satellite industries" will be drawn to this section of the nation. Hence the plans for 10,000 homes, and the remark attributed to Mr. Levitt that "Bucks County can become (to New Jersey) what Long Island is to New York."

Eagles Plan Drive. Because the nation needs some 2,000,000 tons more of scrap metal this year than last, Nassau Aerie 2732, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold a drive Sunday to collect all available material of this sort. The defense program currently requires more than is available.

The Eagles suggest that all contributions to the campaign be placed at the curb by noon on Sunday. If such articles as old refrigerators, washing machines and tractors that are no longer in use can be given to the drive, assistance in moving them will be provided. A telephone call to the Eagles (9747) from 4 p. m. until midnight will bring the desired action.

In addition to metal, old rubber (tires, etc.), as well as old clothes and rags will be collected Sunday. Because Princeton Post 76, American Legion, conducts monthly paper drives, that will not be handled on Sunday.

Miscellany. John Koch, 29, of 50½ Maple Street, died in Princeton Hospital Sunday from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. Mr. Koch, a carpenter, was driving on the Cranbury-Plainsboro Road about 2:30 Friday morning when his car struck a telephone pole and he sustained a fractured skull.

Col. Audley H. F. Stephan, one of the passengers aboard the DC-4 transport missing over Alaska while en route to Korea, graduated from Princeton with the Class of 1922. Former budget director for New Jersey and an expert on government financial matters, he lives in Trenton. Irving A. Moore of 39 Wiggins Street is his brother-in-law.

SUMMER THEATRES

The McCarter is concluding a six-day run of "Here Today," featuring Eve Arden, which was well received Monday night by a capacity audience. She will be followed by Mae West in the deathless "Diamond Lil," a production set in the gay nineties that has had as much appeal in the 'fifties as it did when first staged nearly 30 years ago. Dates are Monday through Saturday.

At the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Florence Reed can be seen in "Suspect" through Saturday. Next week, June Lockhart in "Claudia," the amusing comedy about a child-wife reluctant to assume the responsibilities of marriage and motherhood. The Lambertville Music Circus will follow this week's "Irene" with "Annie Get Your Gun," which opens Tuesday.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Strictly Dishonorable (Thurs.-Sat.), a familiar stage and screen vehicle set in the uninhibited 'twenties, has been done this time by Ezio Pinza and Janet Leigh. The story of an aging Romeo presumably compromised by a sweet young thing, it has been told in sophisticated, amusing fashion, with the added attraction of two operatic and two popular selections sung by the golden-voiced Mr. Pinza.

Excuse My Dust (Sun.-Tues.) is a genial period piece in which Red Skelton shows a picturesquely drowsy midwestern town of 1905 that the horseless buggy is here to stay. Music and nostalgia are pleasantly blended into the easy-going, generally amusing story.

Peking Express (Wed.-Sat.) is both a bitter attack on communism as it is being spread in the Far East and a slam bang melodrama of intrigue, cruelty and frequent brushes with death. Joseph Cotten is cast as an American doctor, Corrine Calvet as an adventuress, Edmund Gwenn as a priest, the principal characters on a train between Shanghai and Peking that is waylaid by Chinese bandits. The script wavers between too many words directed against the communist doctrine and a desire to atone for this with an overflow of action, but the net result is still of interest.

THE GARDEN

Along the Great Divide (Fri.-Sat.) is the week's western, this one

Sons have been born to Mr. & Mrs. Paul Bodine, 219 Nassau Street, and Mr. & Mrs. Sinclon Moss, Cherry Valley Road; daughters to Mr. & Mrs. Thomas B. Hartmann, 35 Mountain Avenue; Mr. & Mrs. James Stacey, Lawrenceville; Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth De-Remer, Princeton Junction.

Russell Bettes and William Fiemer, 3d head the program and reception committees for the summer outing of the N. J. Association of Nurserymen which will be held Wednesday at Howe Nurseries, Pennington.

The Y.W.C.A. will be closed during August while the executive director, Miss Esther Todd, and the program director, Miss Hermeles Jones, are on vacation. Mrs. Collie Herron, vice-president of the Y.W., will be on call during the month.

The Nassau Street center will be open each Friday evening from 8 to 11 while the teen-age canteen programs are held. The Youth Council and Mrs. Harold Sprout, chairman of the Open House Committee, are in charge.

There is a possibility that the 1952 U. S. Senate race in New Jersey may find two alumni of Princeton opposing each other. The Republican incumbent, H. Alexander Smith, has already announced his plans to seek another six-year term. His class is 1901.

Faced with the need of nominating a stronger candidate than they have at the gubernatorial or senatorial level in the past five years, the Democrats are looking for fresh (and presumably younger) faces. Reportedly in the spotlight is Archibald S. Alexander, now Undersecretary of the Army, who said this week in Washington that he would reach a decision on his candidacy before the end of the year. Mr. Alexander is a member of the Class of 1928; Congressman Charles R. Howell, incidentally, is in the Class of '27.

Should Mr. Alexander decide to remain in his present post for another year, he might seek the governorship when Mr. Driscoll's term expires in 1953. Well before that, the boom for Driscoll on the 1952 Republican ticket at the national level will have been accurately measured for size.

Veterans Taxi, owned by Henry Freda, is taking steps to acquire two of the three licenses for cabs operated by George Grover of the Yellow Cab Co. . . . "Understanding Modern Art" will be the theme of a series of four lectures to be given in the Fall under Group Arts auspices by Benjamin Karp, sculptor and teacher.

Dr. Paul R. Chesebro, headmaster of Hun School and borough magistrate, will be heard Sunday afternoon at 3 over Trenton's WTTM on a panel discussion with highway safety as its topic. One of a series of round-table forums, it will have Fred E. Schluter, president of the Thermoid Company (the program sponsor) as moderator.

Joseph J. Stemmle heads the committee planning the annual outing for Mercer Engine Company No. 3, set for a week from Saturday at the Squatters' Club on Quaker Road. He is being assisted in preparations by Leland G. Birch, Frederick K. Bohn, Nelson B. Davison, Henry W. Kenarney, Edward L. Lloyd, John A. Mooney, Laurence B. Patterson, Clarence H. Rodefeld, Charles E. Tessein, Henry R. Warren and Richard H. Wood.

SPORTS IN SHORT

Move Over, Feller, Reynolds, et al. Perhaps Satchel Paige has been playing baseball longer than Tom Brophy, but not many others can claim that distinction. And the old master of Princeton baseball seems to get more able and more versatile as the years roll by.

This season he has played the outfield, first base, short stop and catcher when he was not pitching. And his hitting is good enough to keep him in the third or fourth batting slot on Princeton's Twin-M League team. His best efforts this summer have been on the pitching mound. Before this week, he had pitched two three-hitters and a four-hitter against Hightstown alone.

As soon as he started throwing against Hightstown Monday before local fans on Brokaw Field, he knew he had his stuff. The fast ball was hopping, the curve was breaking well and even a screwball was effective enough to bother the Hightstown hitters.

By the third inning, Brophy was silently envisioning the first no-hitter of his long career. In the fifth his hopes about vanished when a sizzling hopper was hit between third and short. But shortstop Jack Petrone made a great back-handed stab and threw the runner out. In the same frame, centerfielder Chick Davies made a running catch of a line drive that had base hit written all over it.

In the seventh, the last inning, Broph really started to throw hard, so hard that he began to lose his control. He walked the first batter and hit the second. They advanced to second and third on an overthrow, and one run scored on an infield out. However, Brophy grabbed a hot grounder with his bare hand and threw to first to end the game.

The no-hit gem went as a 7-1 victory for Princeton. In addition to great fielding support, Brophy got plenty of backing from his teammates' bats. Carl Pope sparked an 11-hit assault with a triple and two singles.

Combined with last Thursday's 8-6 triumph at Belle Mead, Monday's win moved the Tigertowners within a game and a half of pace-setting Belle Mead. Their record is now 11-8, compared to 13-8 for the leaders. Next Monday's battle against Belle Mead on Brokaw Field is a must win for the Princeton nine.

THEY MET IN FINALS OF MEN'S DOUBLES TOURNEY

James York and John Funkhouser (first and second from the left), not ranked among the eight seeded entries, pulled three surprising upsets to advance to the finals of the community men's doubles tournament. But in the finals they were cooled off quickly by the two old masters, Caryl Bigelow Jr. and Stanley Smoyer (right), top-seeded entry and defending champions. Bigelow and Smoyer overpowered York and Funkhouser, 6-2, 6-1 Monday to win their second straight community doubles title. There was an original 23-team field in the men's doubles.

Quakers Conform. After six weeks of creating turmoil in the intercollegiate sports world, Pennsylvania came back into the fold and announced it would conform to the N.C.A.A. plan for televising football in 1951. Penn's manner of doing so was just as left-handed as its original decision to stage a one-college revolt: instead of a telephone call from its director of athletics to the four Ivy League colleges it had told off, one of the secretaries was merely instructed to leave a message that Penn was planning to play its games this Fall as originally scheduled.

The announcement from Philadelphia included a piece to the effect that President Harold Stassen didn't know a thing about Pennsylvania's decision before it appeared in print. While there is every evidence that the White House aspirant has been dictating all major points of athletic policy since becoming head of Penn, the denial made on his behalf at this time was rather unfortunate.

If he hadn't played a part in formulating the Quakers' policy before, matters had now reached a stage that had four of their oldest rivals ready to break relations and the college's entire position in intercollegiate athletics was wavering on the brink of disaster. Yet a spokesman for Stassen chose to say that the decision to go along with the N.C.A.A. was "a good surprise."

The belief here is that Penn tried to kick over the traces without any real knowledge of what would occur. That is to say, the statement was made that its eight home games would be televised without any real belief that opponents such as Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth, Columbia and California would flatly refuse to play on such a basis.

The intercollegiate fraternity in the world of athletics is a strong one, particularly in the Ivy Group, and the values and standards maintained are both deep and lasting. It required many years to create them and for that reason, they cannot he fully understood in n relatively short period of time.

As a team (college president and director of athletics) Harold Stnssen and Francis Murray are distinctly newcomers to the intercollegiate picture. In this rudderless journey out of the accepted channels nf sound procedure, they harmed only one institution: the University of Pennsylvania.

Jolted by Jugtown. The Phantoms were hardly in first place long enough to get comfortable before they were rudely knocked back down to the second slot. Just after trimming Pete's A. C. two straight to take the lead, the defending champions were upset by Jugtown Community Club, 5-3.

Jess Clayton's pitching silenced the big Phantom bats on five hits. Buster Thomas smashed a homer in the seventh and the Phantoms got two more hits in that inning, but Clayton put out the fire to protect his winning lead.

On Monday Jugtown almost pulled another startling upset against Pete's. Behind Jack Lucey's hurling, Herb Stout's crew had a 9-4 bulge over Pete's going into the last of the seventh. But Lucey weakened and Pete's rallied for five runs to tie the score at 9-9 at the end of the regulation seven innings. The game was called by darkness at that point.

Other A league scores: Townies 15, Vet Taxi 11; Pete's A. C. 13, Bank Street Tigers 3; Phantoms 28, Bank Street Tigers 4; Cenerino's 4, Townies 2.

In the B league, RCA retained its half-game edge over the second-place Post Office Social Club. RCA pounded ORC by a 14-5 score on Tuesday and Post Office won by default from Esposito's.

ETS 1 kept close at the heels of the leaders, trouncing Engine Co. No. 1 by a 10-2 count behind the pitching of Johnny Donaldson. Herb Fowler connected for a grand-slam homer for ETS 1, and teammates Harry Crane and Fred Bauer also hit for the circuit.

In the other Tuesday game, AVC scored four times in the first inning and went on to beat ETS 2 by a 5-1 score. John Langer was effective as the AVC hurler, scattering seven hits and pitching shut-out ball after the first inning.

Eagles Edged. Second-half play in the girls' softball league got under way Tuesday with one nf the best battles in the two-year life of the colorful circuit. The Eagles, uhbeaten in six first-half games, were finally tripped by Andy's Tavern in a tense 3-2 ball game that delighted a good crowd on William and Olden field.

Alice Keiunji, the Eagles' effective little southpaw, pitched a one-hitter in absorbing her first loss. She struck out four and walked none, but a couple of bad throws by her fielders proved costly in her mound duel with Andy's Virginia Mershon.

Virginia scattered seven Eagles' hits, but was great in the clutch. She fanned 13 of the powerful Eagles, and walked only one. In the last of the seventh she gave up two straight hits after striking out the first two batters. With the tying run on third and the winning run on second, Virginia ended the threat by fanning the next batter for the final out.

Each team picked up two runs in the fourth, and Andy's added the deciding tally in the fifth. Arlette Lewis got to first on an error, stole second, headed for third on an infield out and scored on a wild throw trying to catch her at third.

With the loss the Eagles slipped down to second place for the first time this season. Kings Inn, with a 17-3 win over ETS, moved into the lead by a half-game. The other girls' games this past week were postponed by rain.

The standings:

	W.	L.
Kings Inn	7	1
Eagles	6	1
Andy's Tavern	6	2
Cousins	3	4
Coan's Clubbers	3	4
Swinnerton's	2	4
Cramer Motors	1	6
ETS	0	6

Six in a Row. Tom Robbins has added another gem to the remarkable record of the pitching staff of the American Legion Post 76 entry in the Junior Twin-M League. Robbins limited Kingston to two hits last Friday as the undefeated Princeton nine won its sixth straight game by an 11-1 score.

Robbins held Kingston scoreless after the first inning. He struck out five and issued no walks over the seven inning route. John Turney contributed a triple to the Post 76 hitting attack.

Gil Bogley has been named 1952 tennis captain. The 20-year-old former National Junior Champion has played three years at Princeton without having the experience of being a member of a losing team. Gil was co-captain of the unbeaten yearling outfit in 1949 and during the past two seasons, the Tiger varsity has racked up 22 straight triumphs.

There's no let-up in sight for tennis opponents of the Orange and Black. Pablo Eisenberg, a member of the class of 1954, won the Eastern intercollegiate title for freshmen this Summer and the player he beat in the finals was Mike Weatherley, a classmate.

recording the adventures of a sheriff (Kirk Douglas) who goes to great lengths to protect a suspected murderer (Walter Brennan) from being lynched. Virginia Mayo is the gal in a satisfactory drama of life and death in the frontier country.

The Fortunes of Captain Blood (Mon.-Tues.) follows the trail of Sabatini's adventure-seeking pirate in a blood and thunder piece. Louis Hayward and Patricia Medina head the cast of an average romantic drama.

Kill the Umpire (Wed.-Thurs.) casts William Bendix as the man in blue in the national pastime. It's comedy that leans rather heavily on slapstick to toss over the thin portions of the plot.
